

BOMB EXPERT AT STOCK EXCHANGE — An explosives expert examines a device carried from the Stock Exchange at London, where two workers were injured when a bomb exploded. The bomb was one of many that was sent in the mail to London addresses.

3 Men Wounded In Latest British Terror Bombing

LONDON (AP) — Three men were wounded today, one seriously, in an explosion at the Bank of England that followed a week of bombing incidents blamed on Irish Republican Army militants, police said.

They said the bomb exploded in a mail room while the men were trying to shield it with sandbags. A similar package also was in the room but did not go off.

The explosion was the 30th bomb incident in London in a week. Scotland Yard has blamed them on IRA dissidents seeking to extend their guerrilla war from Northern Ireland to Britain's home island.

Previous targets for the bombers were Prime Minister Edward Heath, the London stock market and the defense ministry, as well as major department stores and a subway station. The bombs claimed their first victims Friday when a 25-year-old stock exchange secretary and her boss were hurt when a letter bomb exploded as she opened it.

A hospital spokesman said Joanna Knight was in satisfactory condition after treatment for bruised eyes, perforated ear drums and facial cuts she received in the blast. George Brind, 62, suffered shock and a cut hand.

Police today began cracking down on travel between Britain and Ireland, saying they feared an intensification of the bombing campaign.

"All travelers may now be searched or questioned, and there are bound to be long queues as a result," a police spokesman said.

Detectives said they were worried that terrorists would take advantage of the three-day holiday weekend in Britain to plant more bombs.

All luggage lockers at London's railway stations were taken out of service, and post office employees were told to be careful handling mail accumulating during the holiday.

Mosquito Control Method Successful

DAVIS, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say they have found a way to control pesticide-resistant mosquitoes without drenching the countryside with harmful chemicals.

Synthetic growth hormones capable of controlling mosquitoes are being tested with great success, a group of University of California entomologists said in a report released Friday.

The hormones, when sprayed on wet areas where mosquitoes breed, disrupt the normal growth pattern of mosquito larvae. Some grow so fast they split their shells and die; others grow so slowly they die before maturity.

Health officials have been concerned because mosquitoes, which carry such diseases as encephalitis and malaria, sometimes develop resistance to traditional pesticides.

The growth hormones, on the other hand, are environmentally safe and dissipate quickly into harmless substances after being used, the researchers said.

"This is much more environmentally and ecologically sound, but of course it is also much more expensive, more difficult and more slow," said Raymond Coppock of the university's agricultural extension program here.

Dr. Emil Dupras of the UC Mosquito Control Research Laboratory in Fresno said farmers now pay about 10 cents an acre for pesticide spraying but the hormone treatment could cost between $1.50 and $4.50 an acre.

"If they can still get along with the organo-phosphates, they're going to do it," said Don J. Womeldorf, a state public health biologist.

Womeldorf said the hormones were especially welcomed by public health authorities in California. He said California mosquitoes "have developed great resistance to organic phosphate pesticides which have formed the backbone of mosquito-control programs for the past 20 years."

Senior Citizens Center Stage At State Fair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's senior citizens took center stage Friday at the Ohio State Fair.

Gov. John J. Gilligan signed into law a bill creating an Ohio Commission on Aging. The ceremony took place at the senior citizens' tent.

The governor also signed a bill permitting the state to supplement the incomes of aged, blind or disabled residents who might lose money when the federal government takes over adult public assistance Jan. 1.

Senior citizens were the toast of the state Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation. The department presented prominent senior citizen awards to six Ohioans for their efforts on behalf of better mental health in the state.

They were Dorothy Van Tilberg of Ashland; Nellie Purtee, Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Burton Dunfield, Granville; and Mr. and Mrs. H. Patrick Lochary, Pomeroy.

The Junior Fair Sale of Champions was held Friday. Winners included Chris Smith, Fredericktown, who sold a grand lamb to Gooding Amusement Co. for $2,289 for a new state fair record; Marsha Larrick, Leesburgh, who sold a grand barrow to Bob Evans Farms for $4,100; and Randy Shane, Fostoria, who sold a grand steer to

Buyer Outlook Bleak As Prices Continue Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price freeze notwithstanding, the American family paid $12 more last month for a market basket of farm-produced food. And beginning Labor Day weekend, it may cost more to run the family car.

Figures released Friday by the Agriculture Department showed it cost a family of 3.2 persons $1,529 for food for the year ending last July, $208 more than a year earlier.

Higher costs of driving the family car loomed when a federal judge ruled that the nation's 165,000 retail gasoline dealers can raise their prices starting Labor Day weekend.

The economic picture for the consumer looked even bleaker as the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Veterans Administration announced an increase from 7½ per cent to 8½ per cent in the interest rate home buyers must pay for government-backed mortgages, effective today.

At the same time, the Agriculture Department disclosed that the nation's rice supply had dropped on Aug. 1 to the lowest level in 12 years, this report coming a day after the department said supplies of corn and other feed grain were headed toward a 20-year low.

Sharply higher consumer prices for fresh fruit, eggs, oilseed products and bakery and cereal items were blamed for the increased cost of the family market basket.

The basket, compiled by agricultural technicians, includes only domestic farm-produced food, and is based on 1960-61 surveys of average amounts of food a family purchases annually.

A percentage breakdown showed that the market basket cost rose 15.8 per cent the past year, the farm value was up 30.4 per cent, and the middleman's share climbed 5.8 per cent.

In the ruling on gasoline, U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker upheld the dealers' allegation that Phase 4 regulations unfairly discriminate against them.

The ruling, which the Justice Department says it intends to appeal, would lift controls on retail gasoline prices which are presently frozen. Phase 4 controls, which retain price lids for many dealers, were scheduled to go into effect Aug. 31. The retailers involved sell under the brand names of major gasoline suppliers.

Judge Barrington noted that the dealers' principal suppliers were allowed to pass on their increased costs, but the retailers were not. He said the dealers were the only small businesses with 60 or fewer employees covered by price controls, and he called this situation "arbitrary and capricious."

The ¾ per cent increase in interest rates for government-backed mortgages was the second boost this month. HUD Secretary James T. Lynn said it was necessary because current maximum allowable interest rates for FHA and VA mortgages were lower than other interest rates.

"As a result, lenders tend to avoid FHA and VA mortgages and reduce the effectiveness of the FHA-VA programs and the availability of such financial help to prospective home buyers," he said.

Ex-Agent Tells Of FBI Break-In WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI agents broke into the office of Japan's consul in Seattle during the Eisenhower administration, according to a former agent who says he acted as a lookout.

William W. Turner, now an author and private investigator, said that break-in was only one of about a dozen illegal burglaries in which he participated during his 10 years in the bureau.

The FBI break-ins began more than 30 years ago on specific approval by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, another former FBI man told The Associated Press Friday.

This former high bureau official, who asked not to be named, said Roosevelt told Hoover that "we have to forget some things. The ends justify the means."

This was at a time when "the clouds were lowering" before World War II, he said. The break-ins continued until as recently as 1966, when Hoover is reported to have stopped them.

Turner, who spoke in a telephone interview from his home in San Rafael, Calif., said he helped break into the Japanese consul's office in 1957 or 1958.

This would have been while Richard Nixon was vice president. Nixon raised the issue of FBI burglaries at a news conference this week when he said such break-ins were widely authorized and well known during the Democratic administrations of Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy.

In Seattle, FBI officials declined comment on Turner's story.

Japanese Consul-General Yoshiro Yasui said "there is no record of our office being burglarized," and declined further comment. Turner said the break-in was done so smoothly it would have escaped detection.

Richard Auerbach, who had been Turner's boss until 1957, said he has no recollection of an FBI break-in at the Japanese consulate. However, Turner placed the time of the break-in as 1957 or 1958, possibly after Auerbach left. Auerbach's successor is dead.

Turner said he acted as a lookout while a specially trained crew of FBI agents used sophisticated safe-cracking gear to get at some material inside, possibly code books or other cryptographic material.

Turner said he didn't know what had been photographed. "Nobody ever briefs you," he said.

He said he had been specially trained in burglary techniques at FBI headquarters in Washington. His specialty was placing hidden microphones, or "bugs," where they would not be detected by the persons to be overheard.

Burglaries were aimed mostly at "local functionaries of the Communist Party," he said.

During these break-ins agents were told to carry nothing that could link them to the FBI, he said. "If you were caught, you'd be canned, at least until things cooled down," he said. But he said he knows of no FBI agent who was caught.

Turner, author of the books "Hoover's FBI" and "Invisible Witness," was fired from the bureau in 1961 for his criticism of bureau policies.

He said although the burglaries in which he participated clearly were illegal, he feels safe in talking about them now because the statute of limitations has run out.

Skylab Crew Sets Space Record

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 2 astronauts, humming along with a new set of gyroscopes in their orbiting laboratory, became history's longest-flying space travelers today.

At 8:01 a.m. EDT, Alan L. Bean, Dr. Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma surpassed the single-mission endurance mark of 28 days, 50 minutes set in June by the Skylab 1 crew.

Mission control calculated the astronauts had completed 404 orbits of earth and had traveled 11.5 million miles since their launching July 28.

And if all continues to go well and they complete their full 59-day voyage, they'll more than double the old standard. It's a record that may stand for many years.

The Skylab 3 crew is scheduled to start a 56-day flight in November. After that, the United States plans no more long-duration space trips for at least five years.

The Skylab 2 astronauts on Friday enhanced their chances of completing a full mission when Lousma and Garriott hooked up a new set of six gyroscopes during a space walk of 4 hours, 31 minutes.

Orbiting 270 miles high, Lousma, a muscular Marine major, plugged in four connectors on a 23-foot-long gyroscope cable. Mission control reported the new gyros "look beautiful" and immediately assigned them to control the vehicle.

Youth Rescued From Cliffside

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An afternoon of meditation and poetry writing to a girlfriend turned into a desperate struggle for survival Friday for a 19-year-old Cincinnati youth, firemen said.

John Allen Geier said he had climbed to the top of a hill overlooking Columbia Parkway to write. He ventured too close to the edge and tumbled over a 150-foot cliff, he said.

He clutched at a tree branch 20 feet down the shale embankment and clung to it for 30 minutes before a passing motorist on the busy expressway below spotted him and called for help.

He suffered only scratches, firemen reported.

"Good news," replied Bean, who had remained inside the space station, ready to control it on the remote chance something went wrong during the installation. The gyroscopes keep the laboratory from tumbling out of control.

During a nine-minute period when neither the old nor the new gyros were functioning, the 85-ton Skylab drifted only slightly off altitude, and Bean had to take no action.

The station was launched in May with nine gyroscopes, three in each axis—roll, pitch and yaw. But overheating problems had deteriorated the capability of at least five of them.

While outside, Garriott assisted Lousma and then changed film in telescopes the spacemen use to observe and photograph the sun.

It was the second space walk of the mission for Garriott and Lousma. Earlier, they went out for 6½ hours to replace film and to erect a second sunshade to help cool the lab.

Crown Of St. Stephen May Be Returned To Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of returning the 1,000-year-old crown of St. Stephen to Hungary is surfacing again on the eve of a visit to this country by Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

Mindszenty, once Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, opposes giving the crown of Hungarian kings to his Communist-dominated homeland. So do many Hungarian immigrants and those of Hungarian ancestry in this country.

Alfred Puhán, the former U.S. ambassador to Hungary, is among those who thinks it should be returned.

The State Department's long-standing position is that the crown belongs to the Hungarian people, the envoy recalled in an interview.

"Well, having served in that country I am satisfied that there is a Hungarian nation living in the Danube basin," Puhán said.

Another U.S. condition for the return of the crown was that relations between the two countries should improve substantially.

"They did improve, you may say substantially," Puhán said, and referred to several agreements signed between the two countries since Secretary of State William P. Rogers visited Budapest in 1972.

"I know there will be a blast from Hungarians living in this country and I understand the reasons. But let's face it: the crown is just not ours," Puhán said.

The "holy crown" was spirited out from Hungary, where it was kept in a chapel attached to the palace of Hungarian kings, when the Soviet army approached Budapest in 1944.

It was taken to Germany and delivered to American Army units for safekeeping. It is reported to be at Fort Knox, Ky., together with the scepter, the royal golden apple and robe.

The crown, this country said, "was not removed by force from Hungary, but was surrendered to U.S. authorities for safekeeping and is being held in trust by them... (it) continues to be treated as property of a special status."

TALL CORN—Bill Richards, Route 2, is standing by the Robinson Hybrids, Inc. research test plot located on his farm southwest of Circleville. The plot is approximately ½ acre containing 50 new commercial hybrids and four experimental hybrids.

Corn Is Vital Crop To County

Corn is a vital crop to Pickaway County and a crop of great importance to Bill Richards, southwest of Circleville. Bill is quick to agree that prices are most encouraging but almost in the same breath he will tell you that Pickaway County had more than 10,000 acres of crops under water between July 20 and 30.

"A year that all of the farmers have dreamed about for a long time could turn out to be another average year of us farming the Scioto River bottoms," said Ricahrds.

Bill is proud of the corn that he refers to as being on their terrace. "The terrace corn shows promise right now of being the best we've ever had. We started planting up here in April but didn't finish down here until July 22. I'll tell you where I have some real interesting corn and that's in our Robinson Test Plot. This is a plot that we have in cooperation with Cecil Robinson of Robinson Hybrids, Inc. of Delaware, Ohio. There's a total of 50 new commercial hybrids and 4 experimental hybrids with 4 replications of each hybrid. The plot gives me first hand information of new hybrids available and it also gives me

Soil Tests Can Improve Wheat Yields

GEORGE HAMRICK
High yields will be vital to profitable crop production in 1974, says R. Hunter Follett, Extension Agronomist at The Ohio State University. A key factor in high yields is adequate fertilizer nutrients, so having soil test is important, he adds. And now is a good time to take samples for fall-planted crops such as wheat.

By testing his soil, a farmer will learn how to furnish the plant food inventory so necessary for proper fertilization of wheat. The lime, phosphorus and potassium should be applied prior to or at planting time in the fall. Wheat will respond to high soil test levels of phosphorus than many other crops. Follett says. So good wheat yields may depend on the application of the needed phosphate.

It is a good idea to include some nitrogen along with phosphorus and potassium to help get the wheat started. If a row fertilizer such as 6-24-12 is used, this will supply the nitrogen needed. It is also important to apply more nitrogen in the spring to help carry the wheat through to maturity.

Another soil testing need may be to prepare the land that has been "set aside" and that will be put into production again in 1974. Secretary of Agriculture, Earl Butz, has announced that there will be no government set-aside of land in 1974 for feed grains, soybeans, wheat, and cotton. This land may need additional nutrients for high-yield production again.

Follett also suggests testing land that has been in pasture or setting idle and that will be used for row-crop production next season. Even if the land is to remain in pasture, proper fertilization will make the land more profitable. This is a good time of year to sample pasture and forage land.

Soil test information is available through the County Extension Office, 137 W. Franklin Street, Circleville.

Conspiracy Probe Fails

NEW ORLEANS, La.(AP) — The investigation into an alleged conspiracy to kill President Nixon has failed to turn up enough evidence to make arrests, a local source close to the inquiry says.

1974 Wheat Program Details Announced

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has announced details of the 1974 Wheat Program which he said is designed to encourage all-out production.

There will be no set-aside requirement for 1974. There will be no conserving base requirement for the four-year life of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973.

New in the wheat program is the target price feature. If the average price for wheat is at or above the $2.05 per bushel target price, the producer will receive no payment. If the price average is below the target, the producer will receive the difference between the target price and the five-month average price received by all farmers.

There will be no preliminary payment. Any payment due will be paid after December 1, 1974. If the average price received by all producers is under $2.05 per bushel for the July through November 1974 period, a producer would be paid on an amount of bushels determined by multiplying the farm allotment times the projected yield established for the farm. The projected yield represents the potential production for the farm as determined by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

More Cropland Seen For 1974 Agriculture

Ohio's potential for crop production will be increased by at least 2.6 million acres next year over the available farm land this year, reports Harle H. Hicks, executive director of the Ohio Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

This total was calculated following official notice to local ASCS offices that there will be no set-aside of land in 1974 for feed grains and wheat, that maintenance of an established conserving base will not be required, and long-term land reserve agreements may be ended at the option of producers.

"It's not likely that all this potential added acreage will go into crops," the ASCS official said. "But it is very likely that most of it will be used for production of either crops or livestock."

Having more land available for production should be good news for farmers, grocery shoppers, and the nation as a whole, Hicks said. Both domestic and export market demand is expected to continue strong.

The 2.6 million acres includes 256,000 acres set-aside this year from feed grain and wheat, over 58,000 acres under long term contracts for retirement, and nearly 2.3 million acres in conserving uses, primarily as hay and pasture land.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz recently said, "If we have a feed grain harvest this fall of the size now anticipated, and if we have an adequate crop in 1974, we will avoid export controls on grains. We expect to lift all export controls when the 1973 crops become available."

"Agricultural exports are a prime source of foreign exchange with which to buy our national energy supplies and other critical needs. Controls on exports of U.S. farm products, which are vital to the world, disrupt foreign economics and our relationship with foreign nations. By increasing our agricultural production we can continue to maintain our much-wanted food as a positive peace initiative."

For the nation as a whole, one effect of the recent announcements about Stabilization and Conservation Services (ASCA) County Committee.

The allotment is set at 55 million acres. Thus, on the average, each producer's allotment in 1974 will be about three times that of his 1973 allotment. This allotment represents the number of harvested acres of wheat, based on the estimated domestic average yield, which would result in production equal to estimated domestic and export disappearance in the 1974-75 marketing year.

This allotment is similar to the domestic allotment in the 1973 Wheat Program in that it is not a constraint on the amount of wheat that can be planted and its sole purpose is for making payments to producers in the event the five-month average price received by farmers is less than the target price.

The total amount of payments a person may receive under one or more of the 1974 Wheat, Feed Grain and Upland Cotton Programs may not exceed $20,000.

Loans will be available to producers on their 1974 crop wheat at a national average of $1.37 per bushel, an increase of 12 cents over 1973 crop loans.

The Agriculture and Consumer

Protection Act of 1973 provides for release of about 10 million bushels of excess wheat stored by wheat producers under provisions of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965. It has been determined by the Secretary that such wheat will be released without penalty. Producers holding excess wheat will be notified by their local ASCS county committees on details regarding its release.

The Act also eliminates the requirement that processors purchase certificates values at 75 cents per bushel on each bushel of wheat processed for human domestic consumption.

Producers may substitute any non-conserving crop or any conserving crop used for hay or for grazing in order to preserve their wheat allotments and to make them eligible for any payments under the target price feature. Crops for which a marketing quota is in effect are excluded.

A fashion favorite this fall is the skirt with pleats. Ever notice how often a bunched hem ruins the good looks of a pleated skirt? It's a fault you can easily remedy, either in ready-to-wear or home-sewn garments.

The secret is to give extra attention to seams within the hem area, especially pleat seams. Use one of two hemming techniques to achieve a smooth hem with flat pleats that stay in place.

One method is useful for garments made of light or medium weight fabrics. Start by turning up the hem whatever amount you wish. Now, at the point where the hem crosses a seam, clip the seam allowance to the seam stitching. This allows the seam allowance above the hem to lay in one direction. In the hem portion, press the seam open.

Next, complete the hem, fold the pleat in place, and press. The bulkiest part of the hem is where the pleat folds on a seam allowance. To keep this part creased, edgestitch the fold of the pleat along the seam in the hem area.

Use another technique with thick hard-to-crease fabrics. With this method, the hem is finished before the pleat seam is completely stitched. Start by stitching the seam in the pleat to within about 10 inches of the bottom edge. Now complete the garment, including finishing the hem. Be sure the hem edges at the open part of the pleat seam are even.

Next, pin and stitch the pleat seam—stitching through the finished hem. Miter the lower corners of the seam allowance and whipstitch them together. With very bulky fabrics that won't ravel, trim the corners and whipstitch them together firmly.

Perhaps all the skirt seams don't fall within pleats. Don't neglect these seams either. To keep a seam flat, don't finish the seam allowance within the hem portion. Press the seam open; clip the seam allowances at the top of the hem and where the hem turns. Trim them diagonally toward the seam at the hem edge. To reduce bulk with medium to heavy fabrics, layer or grade the seam within the hem. Trim the seam allowance to about one-half its width. Learn these hemming techniques—you'll find a smooth hem adds much to the appearance of a pleated skirt.

And So It Grows

Mosquitoes take over the patio as soon as the sun goes down, maybe before, if the area is shaded. Plentiful rainfall this year has increased the mosquito population.

To help control them around your home, eliminate places where they breed. Remove standing water in such places as eave troughs, old tires, tin cans, children's toys, and storm sewers. And be sure to drain or empty your child's wading pool when it won't be used for a while.

Water is necessary for mosquitoes to breed and adult females lay eggs on standing water or in places that later become flooded.

For personal protection, use a repellent on exposed parts of your body when entering areas that you suspect are mosquito-infested. Several repellents are available that are effective and safe to use.

Control the pests in your yard by applying a water-base spray containing 0.5 percent malathion to shrubbery and tall grasses.

At cookouts or outdoor parties, spray under the tables and chairs and general party area with 0.1 percent pyrethrin or 0.5 percent dichlorvos (DDVP).

Sweet corn is always one of the most popular vegetables in the home garden. And, it's extra tasty when you pick it at the right time, use it promptly, or immediately preserve it by freezing.

The best time to pick is usually about three weeks after the first silks appear. Dry silks indicate the corn is nearing maturity. Feel the ears to make sure they are full, including tips. Then pull the tip of the husk back and peek inside. Kernels should be plump and golden in color. Whiteness indicates immaturity - unless you planted a white variety.

Puncture several kernels with your fingernail. If the substance that leaks out is milky, the corn is mature; if it is watery, the corn is too young and will lack flavor. A doughy substance indicates the corn has passed its peak.

When to pick depends on how you like your corn. Some folks prefer young corn, others like it more mature.

After harvesting, place the corn in a cool place. Corn stored at 32 degrees F. loses only eight per cent of its sugar content in 24 hours. But, corn always tastes better if you eat it immediately after picking.

Swine Agronomy Day Is Scheduled In Clark County

Extensive research programs with field crops and swine currently underway at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center Western Branch in Clark County will be open for public inspection at a specialized field day on Thursday, September 6.

Swine-Agronomy Day will feature tours of field research plots and livestock facilities where scientists and Extension specialists will review experimental results and answer visitors' questions.

Field day activities will begin at 9:30 A.M. Swine and agronomy tours will run continuously throughout the morning and will resume again following lunch and a brief speaking program. Visitors who wish to participate in both swine and agronomy tours should plan to complete one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

Areas of swine research will include current work with transmissible gastroenteritis (TGE), selection for leanness, protein needs of sows during gestation and lactation, and the effect of the trace element selenium on reproduction and growth of swine.

Agronomy tours will include corn performance testing; tillage research; double-cropping soybeans; herbicides for controlling weeds in corn and soybeans; and soybean row width, planting date, and plant population studies with soybeans.

There will be a number of demonstrations and exhibits throughout the day-long program. These include a swine health clinic; an exhibit of swine evaluation station boars; swine pregnancy diagnosis; a pork display; an exhibit of engineering for efficient grain and livestock production; and an exhibit on farm records and record analysis.

Lunch will be available on the grounds beginning at 11:30 A.M.

The afternoon program will begin at 12:30. Dr. Roy M. Kottman, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at OSU and Director of OARDC and the Cooperative Extension Service, will review the value of Western Branch research.

This will be followed by a discussion on the growing and feeding of high lysine corn. Swine and agronomy tours resume at 1:15.

The OARDC Western Branch is a 428-acre research unit in Clark County specializing in swine and field crop research. It is located on State Route 41 approximately 3-1/2 miles northwest of South Charleston or 10 miles southeast of Springfield.

The 1973 Swine-Agronomy Day is sponsored cooperatively by OARDC and the Cooperative Extension Service, The Ohio State University. Pickaway County farmers that would like to attend may go with the county group by calling the Extension Office at 474-7534.

Food Prices Have World-Wide Ties

The American consumer is now part of a complex trade network that extends far beyond the supermarket or department store and into the affairs of other nations around the world.

That point was stressed today by Kenneth E. Frick, Administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), the agency that administers the Federal government's farm commodity programs.

"The U.S. consumer is a world consumer," Frick said. "His monetary and commodity needs are only a thread woven into a worldwide economic system. That's why the causes of our rising food prices are more complex than at first apparent."

Frick told the ASCS East Central Regional Conference here that a major part of the food picture is a growing food appetite around the globe. He noted that not only is the world growing by about 80 million people a year, but the world's peoples are getting more affluent. "And increased buying power," he said, "brings increased demand for more and better food."

For example, he said that since 1960 America's overall food consumption—per capita—has increased nearly eight per cent, while during the same period our consumption of beef increased by nearly 40 per cent. He said other countries are experiencing similar trends, as reflected in our heavy exports of soybeans, grain and other feeds to help meet international demand for more meat and livestock products.

"Yet, more and faster production is not always under man's complete control," Frick noted. "World food production has suffered some devastating setbacks the past couple of years. Russia's 1972 grain crop was frozen by the worst winter in half a century, then scorched by a summer drought. India's monsoon rains petered out, and Peru's fish supply diminished. Here in the United States an incredibly wet fall caused problems and last winter's hard freezes cut into our cattle and swine herds. Then, in many areas, persistent rains brought severe flooding—which delayed or even prevented the planting of many 1973 crops."

This unpredictable chain of events, Frick said, has contributed food and farm product supply problems around the world.

"Some people ask why we don't just forget about the world situation and keep all our products at home," Frick said. "But we must realize that our current standard of living would simply dissolve without an import-export system. We need fuels and raw materials that other nations produce. We've grown fond of their bananas, coffee, and shoes."

We've developed strong appetites for foreign automobiles, television sets and other low-cost goods. When we keep demanding all those foreign products—and we do—we should remember that American farm products are popular elsewhere in the world, too. The strong world prices on food are our gain, since our farm products are among the most attractive commodities we have to trade."

Even with domestic food prices on the rise, Frick said, the American consumer has been spending only about 16 percent of his after-tax income on groceries, compared with 23 percent in 1952. It should be remembered, he said, that there has been a phenomenal rise in the consumer's disposable income.

In other remarks, Frick reminded the ASCS conference that Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz is determined to remove all restrictions from American farmers and encourage all-out production to meet strong market demands.

Evidence of that determination, Frick said, is that in 1974 there will be no set-aside of land for feed grains, wheat or cotton and maintenance of conserving base acreages will not be required.

Moreover, he said, long-term retired land under the Cropland Adjustment and Cropland Conversion Programs may be used for crops next year.

Frick also noted that during the 1974 crop year there will be a Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) to provide cost-sharing assistance for farm practices that provide long-term conservation and environmental benefits.

Grain Supply Going Lower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supplies of corn and other feed grains are headed toward their lowest levels in 20 years, an Agriculture Department report shows.

The report, released Thursday, said that exports and domestic requirements together will consume all but 30 million tons of corn, sorghum, oats and barley by the time new harvests are ready in 1974. Department records show this would be the smallest stockpile since the reserve dipped to 27 million tons in 1953.

The diminishing surplus, along with high prices, strong export demand and other factors, said the report, "will probably cause a modest dip in the domestic use of corn."

The report was made by the department's Outlook and Situation Board.

Another report, this one on exports, showed that the nation's wheat reserve continued to diminish while exporters said they still had 1.11 billion bushels of wheat to be delivered overseas.

Some bakers and other users of grain have called for government curbs on wheat exports for the 1973-74 season. But Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz contends such controls would endanger U.S. foreign market opportunities and would be harmful in the long run.

WHAT IS THE STORY ON SEED WHEAT FOR THIS FALL?

IT IS GOING TO BE SCARCE!

We have our order in . . .
Let us know your needs or
No matter where you buy

ORDER IT NOW

AND GET IT ON YOUR FARM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE!

What Are the Problems?

1. First of all, wheat acreage planted this year was drastically reduced from previous years. Also yields were much smaller than anticipated. Therefore the cost is higher.
2. Quantity and cost are only part of the wheat problem this year. A good part of the 1973 wheat crop has a fungus which has been diagnosed as SCAB. This is the same fungus which causes ear rot and stalk rot in corn.
3. This fungus, of course, cuts down the germination count and therefore prevents a good stand. We urge everyone who buys seed wheat, no matter where, to check the germination test of the seed he intends to sow.

If you have any other questions concerning seed wheat, please call us at once. In this year of multiple problems for grower, seller and buyer alike, we hope you will bear with us.

A Page Of Opinion

Because It Is There

The space program, currently in the Skylab phase, is as much a part of progress and the advancement of human knowledge as any explorations made in the past. Its contributions to modern technology alone have returned more than the money invested. It would have been as valid to argue against letting Thomas Edison waste money on developing new electrical devices or the Manhattan Project on atomic energy.

The scientific revolution spawned by the space program is everywhere visible, from the little transistor radio to the vast new electronic brains in industrial applications. Each of these has generated much more wealth — in terms of payrolls, production, taxes, human comfort — than the cost of development.

It is an inescapable fact that scientific knowledge is self-generating in terms of cost. Beyond all these practical aspects — which many critics deride as being unworthy of the highest human aspirations — there is still the ultimate fact that man is a creature of aspirations. Some have laughed at Sir Edmund Hillary's comment that he climbed Mr. Everest "because it is there."

Yet, this is the same spirit which has impelled man to write books, paint pictures, look to the stars, cure disease, find better ways of sharing knowledge — and, yes, travel into space.

Drug Problem

By JEFFREY HART

Not long ago, Governor Nelson Rockefeller threw up his hands over the drug problem and switched to a hard-line approach: life sentences, without possibility of probation, for pushers.

The outcry among the enlightened was long, loud and morally outraged. The proposal was barbaric. Moreover, the prisons could not possibly accommodate so many lifers. The New York Times in particular, please note, was scandalized by the harshness of the proposal, thundered against it editorially, and Rockefeller only made matters worse when he suggested that, in view of the prison crowding problem, maybe the death penalty should be reinstated to eliminate the pushers.

Well, it seems that there does exist a country where a once serious drug problem has been totally solved, and the Times took note of this triumph by printing an excerpt regarding it from an article in Medical Opinion by a Dr. Lowinger.

The successful country is China. No drug problem any more whatsoever. And Dr. Lowinger gives it as his opinion that "the methods the Chinese used to eradicate their addiction problem might well offer methods we could use to achieve the same result. . . All evidence exists that by 1953 the problem of narcotic drug abuse was practically eliminated."

Sounds good so far, you say. Indeed, Dr. Lowinger's article makes everything about China sound good. But just how did the Chinese solve their drug problem? (Nelson Rockefeller is holding his breath.)

Well, on this question the doctor becomes a shade, well, unspecific.

"Leniency was recommended for employees and workers of opium traffickers; but heavy penalties were available for those controlling the traffic, manufacture or growth of opium. China's attitude toward the individual reformed addict was one of good-willed congratulations, and represents another important reason why the narcotic problem was overcome."

Well, that sounds better than the rough stuff proposed by the medieval Rockefeller, doesn't it? Still, a trace of doubt remains. Couldn't Dr. Lowinger have been a bit more specific about the "leniency" and about the "heavy penalties" that were "available" for serious offenders?

In the July, 1972 issue of the Annals of the American Academy, Jonathan Mirsky, a professor generally sympathetic to the Mao regime, reveals that the "heavy penalty" is execution:

"The drug problem was solved a long time ago by long hospitalization and a cure for addicts, shooting pushers, and making it a capital crime to push. They are quite plain about what they did. They just took the people who they thought were the major purveyors of drugs and they either put them in prison for a very long time or killed them; and they tell you that."

And what about the "leniency" for lesser figures and the "good-willed congratulations" for reformed

Business World

By JERRY HARKAVY
Associated Press Writer

SAO JOSE DOS CAMPOS, Brazil (AP) — Brazil has joined the restricted club of world nations that make their own commercial airliners.

The twin-engine turboprop Bandeirante — an exclusively Brazilian plane designed and built in this huge South American country — recently began flying short hauls on Transbrasil Airlines routes in three southern states. Another local commercial line, VASP, plans to have Bandeirantes in service before the end of the year.

The manufacturer, a government-controlled firm called EMBRAER, hopes some day to sell Bandeirantes to other countries around the globe.

Bandeirante means "pioneer" in Portuguese, Brazil's national language. Planes here must be tough enough to take off and land on short unpaved runways, yet light and powerful enough to cover the distances of this country's underdeveloped interior.

"Ideally, we need a plane that could take off from a soccer field and fly at supersonic speeds, yet still be reasonably priced and simply put together," said Col. Ozires Silva, EMBRAER's general manager. "But that was not possible. So we did the best we could, and the result was the Bandeirante."

"For price and performance, the Bandeirante has no competitor in the world," declared Ronaldo Olive, editor of a Brazilian monthly aviation newsletter. "It sells for half as much as a British Avro and one-third as much as a Japanese Samurau, and its cost per mile is less than half of that of those two planes."

Many airlines around the world, especially in developing countries, fly Avros and Samurau on short runs. Transbrasil, the smallest of Brazil's four commercial airlines, is using addicts?

One Wu Shu-jen, a Communist Party member who defected in 1969, reveals that addicts are kept in prison three to five years AFTER they are cured. Other sources confirm this.

The Times, therefore, chose to reprint an account depicting the Chinese solution as benevolent, enlightened and successful, when in reality it is much harsher than the Rockefeller proposal the Times denounced.

Bandeirantes to replace its British-built Dart Herald. The company says the Bandeirante requires fewer passengers to reach the break-even point on short flights.

The Bandeirante carries 15 passengers. It has a cruising speed of 260 miles an hour and range of 1,150 miles. It can take off from a 1,160-foot runway. It also can be adapted to serve as a cargo plane or a flying executive office.

Brazilians have been designing and building airplanes since 1913. But because of a lack of money, a large percentage of them wound up as one-shot prototypes.

EMBRAER began operating in 1970. The government controls 51 per cent of its voting stock, while private shareholders — mostly large firms — hold 71 per cent of the total stock, currently worth $18 million.

The Brazilian government allows private companies to invest 1 per cent of the federal income tax they owe each year in EMBRAER instead of paying it to the national treasury. The number of private shareholders in EMBRAER jumped from 1,035 in 1970 to 73,000 in 1972. Major stockholders include Brazilian subsidiaries of General Motors, Volkswagen and British American Tobacco Co.

Passengers Receive Extraordinary Service

NEW YORK (AP) — Passengers flying Pan American Airways can pick up — at bookstores, Pan Am ticket offices and airport terminals — packets providing tips on prostitution in five major world cities.

The packets, bearing the blue and white insignia of Pan American, are not sold on the planes, a spokesman said.

Today In History

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Our 5-year-old child was scheduled to have her tonsils and adenoids removed. On the very day of surgery, a long article came out in the Wall Street Journal which absolutely terrified us. It said, "Many Doctors Assail Tonsillectomy, Say It Is Useless or Dangerous."

It said, too, "Tonsils now thought to help body fight some ailments; link to Hodgkin's disease?"

We were in a panic until our doctor assured us that this article was filled with false information.

I would like to add that the operation was successful, both physically and emotionally. Our daughter's hearing loss has since entirely disappeared.

Dr. Coleman, can you clarify for us what this scare publicity was all about?

Mr. and Mrs. M.R., N.Y.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. R.: That article was brought to my attention on the very day it was published.

In my opinion, it was a shocking and irresponsible presentation of unsound scientific facts.

In this and in my next column, I will discuss the subject of tonsillectomy and adenoidectomy. I will try to clarify the myths, the confusion, and the distortion associated with this important operation.

It is difficult for me to understand why a respected and reliable newspaper such as the Wall Street Journal would have given valuable space to information which has so little basis in scientific truth.

For substantiation of the material in this column the writer referred to an outdated study conducted "in the early 1920's and 1930's."

Another disturbing quotation was, "Indeed medical students are fond of joking about 'chronic remunerative tonsillitis.'"

I am afraid that these particular untrained and inexperienced medical students that the writer interviewed will never receive an award either for the scientific validity or for the humor of their comment.

As an example of the misleading quality of this article in the WSJ, the writer refers to the relationship between tonsillectomy and poliomyelitis as reported in 1942.

In the last 30 years, much has happened to eradicate polio, as we all know. Proper vaccination has virtually eliminated this as a threat to children, with or without surgery.

As a matter of fact, even in 1942 the relationship between tonsillectomy and polio was never clearly established. However, because there seemed to be slightly more susceptibility to polio after surgery, all non-emergency surgery, including tonsillectomy, was usually not scheduled during the warm summer months, or the so-called "polio season."

Since then, children who have been properly vaccinated against polio can be safely operated on throughout the year.

Many parents are unfortunately caught up in the diverse opinions about tonsillectomy that exist in the minds of pediatricians and specialists in diseases of the ear, nose and throat.

Dogmatic statements by either of these two groups of specialists can only serve to compound this confusion.

Both must recognize each other's arguments and modestly accede to each other's knowledge. No fixed arbitrary position can possibly be helpful.

Tonsillectomy is a valuable operation when chosen with great discrimination.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments by the Pavement Plato: Faith makes the world go round. But disbelief plays a big role in it, too.

If you blindly accept as true everything you hear and everything you think you see, you'll go through life as numbly and dumbly as a blind pony in a coal pit.

Education begins with doubting and questioning. But you have started to grow up if you view with misgivings and suspicion any such familiar remarks as:

"Two can live as cheap as one."

"We really lose money at this price. The only way we make it up is by volume."

"You always get what you pay for."

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"If it was loaded, do you think I'd keep it there on the shelf where the kids could get at it?"

"Nothing can make the human hair grow back overnight, but if you use a bottle of this tonic a week for six months, you'll be amazed at the difference it makes."

"Your cat will love the first taste of this new canned product, and after that you'll never be able to give her enough of it."

"Close your eyes, and I'll give you something nice."

"I would never expect a fiancé of mine to give me a bigger engagement ring than he could really afford. Girls who do that are simply too gross for words."

"You don't mind if I turn out those bright lamps, do you? I'm still suffering from the shell glare I got in the last war."

"Don't worry. All I want to do is put my arm around you. There isn't anything wrong in that, is there?"

"If this stock doesn't double in value in three months, I'll go back to peddling shoelaces."

"Put $20 on this jockey. He won the last three times out, and it stands to reason that he'll make it four in a row."

"You don't think I'm the kind of guy who would try to take advantage of a nice, sweet girl like you, do you?"

"I know some girls pretend they don't want to get married when they really do want to, but I'm not at all sure I want to rush into anything I'd expect to be so lasting. After all, why should I be in a hurry? I'm only 29."

"I don't think I'd want my wife to go on working after we got married — only if she really wanted to."

"With the advantage of this fine new 39-volume encyclopedia in your home, your child's school grades will pick up immediately."

"If elected, I'll take steps to put this platform into effect the very day I'm sworn into office."

"Not here, Grace. Let's spread the blanket beyond those bushes over there. It looks lots cozier."

Yes, if you make it a habit to take things with two grains of salt instead of one, you'll avert twice as many disasters.

Holiday Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — Labor Day weekend traffic fatalities may run between 550 and 650 persons, the National Safety Council estimates.

The council made its estimate Thursday. It said the period covered by the holiday fatality toll will extend from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 31, to midnight Monday, Sept. 3, in each time zone.

There were 580 traffic deaths during the Labor Day period in 1972.

Agronomist Suggests Alfalfa To Cut High Protein Costs

BY GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent

With the cost of soybean meal and other high-protein feeds skyrocketing, many farmers, especially dairymen, are looking for other ways to get protein for their animals. One good answer is to grow more alfalfa, says R. Hunter Follett, Extension Agronomist, The Ohio State University.

Alfalfa is a good source of protein feed and will grow on most fertile, well-drained land in Ohio, the specialist says. In fact, it will supply nitrogen for a subsequent corn crop used in a rotation. An additional bonus is that alfalfa needs no nitrogen fertilizer, which promises to be somewhat scarce and more expensive in the immediate future.

Alfalfa, which has the highest yield potential of any perennial forage crop available to Ohio farmers, is well adapted to summer feeding. Follett suggests that seedlings in northern Ohio be made in August, and by mid-September in southern Ohio. This will allow seedlings time to become well established by winter — provided they are not grazed.

If a farmer wants to shoot for high alfalfa yields, the first step is to select a soil with adequate drainage. Root development, nutrient up-take, nitrogen fixation, and winter survival depend on adequate soil drainage. In fact, many farmers lost alfalfa stands in the wet conditions last fall and winter.

The second step is to determine the soil nutrient levels by having a soil test run. High-yielding hay crops remove and require large amounts of fertilizer nutrients. Now is an excellent time of year to have the soil tested for alfalfa fields, Follett insists, because the fall season is a preferred time to apply lime, phosphorus and potassium. In existing alfalfa fields, fertilizing after the third or fourth cutting helps to winterize the alfalfa plants.

Further information about alfalfa varieties, production methods, and soil testing are available at the County Extension Office, 137 W. Franklin Street, in Circleville.

New Search Under Way For Family

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A Toledo family is the subject of a nationwide search in connection with a small boy's plea for help picked up by citizen-band radio operators weeks ago in New Mexico.

New Mexico state police issued an all-points bulletin Thursday asking for information on the whereabouts of Lawrence A. Zmudzinski, formerly of Toledo.

Deputy Chief William J. BMullock of the New Mexico State Police said the bulletin was issued after Zmudzinski's brother, Louis, called to ask police to investigate the possibility the family was the source of the call.

Zmudzinski told police his brother left Toledo in June for Washington state in a 1964 Cadillac equipped with a citizen band radio. Zmudzinski said the last time he had heard from his brother was a postcard from Melon, Wis., postmarked July 4.

New Mexico State Police launched a 10-day air and ground search after radio operators reported a small boy, who called himself Larry, said he and his father were in trouble in the desert.

The police bulletin, addressed in particular to state police in Ohio, Washington and Wisconsin, said Lawrence Zmudzinski was traveling with his wife, Elizabeth, and their five children aged 6 to 12.

The New Mexico search was called off after the 20 airplanes and helicopters and more than 250 searchers failed to turn up any trace of the caller.

Americans Volunteering For War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cambodian embassy says it has been getting dozens of inquiries a week from former U.S. servicemen who want to volunteer for duty with Cambodian government forces.

But the volunteers are being turned down, an embassy spokesman said Thursday.

The spokesman confirmed a report that since 1970 more than 200 American veterans have called, written or telegraphed the Cambodian embassy, asking how they might enlist. Some 50 of those inquiries were made over the past two months, the report said.

The embassy spokesman said the volunteers are told it is not the policy of the Cambodian government to include foreign nationals in its military.

He said the number of volunteers mentioned in the report "is approximately correct."

The findings were disclosed in the American Security Council's "Washington Report" broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting System. The council describes itself as a private, non-profit organization concerned with national defense.

Pickaway Senior Citizens Schedule Coming Projects

The regular monthly meeting of Pickaway Senior Center was held Thursday in Trinity Lutheran Parish House. The morning hours found the people playing cards and other games, sewing, or just visiting. At noon, the group gathered to enjoy their sack lunches which were supplemented with tea and coffee prepared by the hostess, Mrs. Ethel Lane.

At 1 p.m. the president of the group, John Miranda, introduced a young visitor, Randy Wolfe, who entertained with piano solos "The Overture To 11 Trovatore" by Verdi, "Bach Prelude No. 1", "Valse Caprice" by Rubenstein, and for a change of pace, "Alley Cat." He dedicated the Valse number to his great-grandmother who was present, Mrs. May Rhymmer of Stoutsville. Randy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wolfe of Pontius Lane, Circleville. He also played several request numbers including "The Battle Hymn Of The Republic" with the group joining in singing the chorus.

Next on the program were two numbers by the Kitchen Band. They sang and played "Hallelujah, I'm A Bum" and a parody on "Margie."

Speaker for the day was Frank Sheehan from the Social Security office in Chillicothe. He explained some of the recent changes in the Social Security laws, handed out booklets of information and spent considerable time answering questions.

During the business meeting Louise Heine reported that the telephone assurance program is going well. Mrs. Fannie Brooks reported that five of the proposed seven trips this summer have been completed. The next one on Sept. 5th to Sea World and on Oct. 10th to Shawnee Lodge are both filled, but any who are on the standby list and who might be able to go will be contacted by her personally in case a cancellation makes a seat available. She thanked everyone for cooperating so well, and especially thanked her committee helpers, Mrs. Bea Bach and Mrs. Catherine Hawks.

Mrs. Blanche Kerns, chairman of a committee which was planning a Smorgasbord dinner in September, reported that due to the food prices and meat shortages, it was felt advisable to cancel this project for the present. She suggested that each member who had planned to contribute some item of food for the supper, should contribute this same amount in cash. Since she was chairman of the Committee, such contributions should be given to her any time and she will report them at the next meeting. Her name is Blanche Kerns, 910 Atwater Avenue, Circleville.

Twyla Lorentz, director of the Center, thanked those who have already contributed either cash or checks or saleable items. This money will all be placed in the savings account to be used for the matching funds which will be needed in the near future.

She also urged the membership to try to get blood donors, especially new ones for the next Bloodmobile visit, Aug. 32st. The Red Cross could also use some more volunteers to help in the VA Hospital, at Berger Hospital, at Blood Bank, and especially for driving.

Volunteers are also needed by the Community Fund organization to help with the upcoming campaign. Especially needed are people in the township areas of Circleville, Walnut, Pickaway, Washington, Saltcreek and Harrison. Anyone wishing to help should call the Senior Center 474-4916.

The Center will sponsor a bus to see "Holiday On Ice" the afternoon of Sept. 21st, leaving the Center at 3 p.m. and arriving back there about 9:30 p.m. Only one bus will be taken. Members interested are advised to call the Center soon as many of the seats were signed up for at the meeting.

The two bus loads for the State Fair on September 1 are full, but standby names will still be accepted. The first bus leaves at 9 a.m. and the second at 11:30 a.m.

The following members celebrated birthdays in August, and the entire group sang "Happy Birthday" to those who were at the meeting: Lucille Webb, Hulda Dean, Corilla Pontius (who was 90), Lovenna Runyon, Freda Kerns, Ellen DeLong, Charles Curlett, Earl DeLong, Merle Turner, Wilmina Wolford, Roland Hupp, Elizabeth Morris, Dwight M. Turner, Wayne Morris, Lena Jacobs, John Neff.

Helen Weidman, Mildred Allison, Fannie Brooks, Louise Heine, Elsie Chester, Hazel Justice, Blanche Kerns, Alice Pritchard (Blanche and Alice were both present to celebrate their birthdays the day of the meeting), Ruth Waple, Elizabeth Bachman and Etha Mae Wolford. The group's oldest member, Aunt Minnie Heise who will be 103 on Sept. 29th, was also present.

Everyone was reminded of the monthly card party next Tuesday, at the LK Restaurant at 8 p.m. The next regular monthly meeting will be Sept. 27th in the Lutheran Parish House.

The Ashville group will meet Sept. 13th, in the Shelter House at the Ashville Community Park.

Completes Course In Cosmetology

MRS. ELOISE DRAY

Eloise Dray recently graduated from Ohio State School of Cosmetology in Columbus. Mrs. Dray successfully completed the 1500 hour course which includes the internationally recognized "Contour" basic training program as well as extensive advanced training in all facets of hair design, wig styling, hair coloring and salon management.

Upon successful completion of the examination given by the Ohio State Board of Cosmetology, Mrs. Dray will receive a professional cosmetologist license.

Showers Compliment Miss Pam Brown

Miss Pam Brown, bride-elect of Ellery Elick, has been complimented with showers recently hosted by her friends.

Mrs. Cyril Stickel, Route 2, Ashville entertained in her home for a linen shower honoring Miss Brown on Aug. 21st. Another shower was given by Mrs. Fred White, Pam, Kate and Beth of Galena featuring china and crystal.

Miscellaneous showers have been given by Mrs. James Farley and Mrs. Carl Fridley of Columbus, and by Mrs. Bill Mundy and Mrs. Harold Mundy, Lynette and Becky of Circleville.

Whenever you defrost the freezing section of your refrigerator, wash the freezing trays in warm (not hot) soapy water; rinse well, fill with cold water and replace.

Pickaway County Fair Championship Recipes

Courtesy of Mrs. Paul Stout, Route 1, Lockbourne Recipes for which she received championship awards at the 1973 Pickaway County Fair are listed below.

LEMON PIE

1 1-3 cup sugar
1-3 cup cornstarch
1 1/2 cup water
3 egg yolks, beaten
3 tabsp. butter
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 1-3 tbs. grated lemon rind
Mix sugar and cornstarch in saucepan, stir in water. Cook over moderate heat stirring constantly until moisture thickens and boils for 1 minute. Slowly stir half of mixture into egg yolks then beat into hot mixture in saucepan. Boil 1 minute longer. Blend in butter, lemon juice and rind. Pour into 9 inch baked pie shell.

Make a meringue of 3 egg whites, 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar, 6 tbsp. sugar. Spread over filling, sealing to edge. Bake 8 to 10 minutes at 400 degrees or until delicately brown.

DATE NUT BREAD

1 cup chopped dates
1 tsp. soda
1 cup boiling water
1-3 cup butter
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
1 2-3 cup flour
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix together dates, baking soda and boiling water, set aside. Cream butter and sugar, add egg, beat well. Add vanilla, stir in date mixture, add sifted flour and salt and mix well, then stir in nuts.

Pour batter into a greased loaf pan and bake in a 350 degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes.

APPLE PIE

(Crumb Top)

5 to 7 tart apples
3/4 to 1 cup sugar
2 tbsp. flour
1/2 to 1 tsp. cinnamon
Dash nutmeg
Dash salt
2 tbsp. butter
Pare apples and slice thin, combine sugar, flour spices and salt; mix with apples. Line 9 inch pie plate with pastry; fill with apple mixture; dot with butter. Cover top with crumb mixture (recipe follows) and bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 50 minutes or until done.

CRUMB TOPPING

Mix together and sprinkle over top of pie.

1/2 cup quick oats
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1-3 cup butter

PIE CRUST

1 cup flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening (lard)
2 tbsp. water.

Put Summer In Decorating For Fun All Year Round

YEAR-ROUND SUMMER--That's the look captured in walls, ceiling and furniture fabrics styled by John Quilter of Schumacher.

The all-year summer look is replacing the all-year winter look in many homes, at least in one room - sunroom, family room, living room or bedroom. Many sun porches have been winterized for all-year use and some homemakers have turned rooms off the yard into garden rooms all the year using wicker and other casual furniture, light colored fabrics and bright paints. It is more fun in winter to read, keep the family books or play games in a light, airy, summery room.

Why, then, the hangover from Victorian days of dark winter rooms? Then they used heavy portieres and massive overstuffed furniture mainly to keep the house warm. In summer they threw light covers over furniture and used lighter-weight fabrics at windows. Some people still cling to this summer-winter kind of decoration.

Practicality was another reason cited for maintaining the conservative dreariness. But now just about anything used in the home is tubbable or can be made stain resistant for less frequent dry cleaning. And there are endless choices of colors in paints and fabrics.

In boutique settings, a recent collection of fabrics by John Quilter, stylist for Schumacher, illustrated the summer look all the year. There wasn't a dreary fabric in the lot.

For example, an all-year sunroom was decorated in a way that might find its way into any room.

Two fabrics with matching wall coverings and trim were used on ceiling, walls, upholstery, pillows and at windows. There was an old-fashioned look about the strippable, scrubbable quince pattern with its gazebo-like border that was used on the outer wall of the hall at the entrance to the room. Available in cotton, glazed chintz and blended linen and cotton weaves, the design was used also at windows and on pillows. Its bright floral companion was used on the ceiling and on the upholstery of the white wicker furniture. In the outer hallway the same fabric was used on the ceiling for a continuity to make the entire area look larger. A valance of the quince became a border between draperies and floral covered ceiling.

All the room's fabrics are in the fresh, clear colors popular today in

Miss Claire Hansen Feted With Shower

Miss Claire Hansen, bride-elect of Rick Whitten, was honored recently with a miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Harold Fisher, 11860 Circleville Avenue, Ashville. Hostesses for the event were Elaine Clark, Cheryl Miller and Christine Hansen.

The gift table was arrayed with yellow candles and daisy floral arrangements. A white lace umbrella hung directly over the table. Other floral arrangements decorated the room. Games were played and won by Sally Minor, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Janyce Denner, Cheryl Miller, Sharon Walters, Judy Schein, and Elaine Clark. Each winner gave their prize to the honored guest.

Following the opening of gifts, the guests enjoyed a salad dessert and golden fruit punch. Mints of yellow, green, and white and mixed nuts were also served.

Guests attending were Janyce Denner, Mrs. Lester Ranck, Mrs. Henry Hansen, Sherry Harris, Judy Schein, Sharon Walters, Linda Stevenson, Carolyn Denner, Anita Morris, Sally Minor, Jean Minor, Marilyn Whitten, Carol Allman, Rosemary Hansen and Mrs. Harold Fisher.

Those unable to attend but sending gifts were: Becky Matthews, Lu Ann Gifford, Bonnie Sweptson, Kaye Abrahams, Mae Dawson, Mrs. Walter Raudabush, Mrs. John Dawson, Mrs. Ralph Young and Barbara Kibby.

Jazzmobile Rolls Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazzmobile, which for eight years has been bringing free concerts by big-name jazz artists directly into neighborhoods, is rolling again this year.

It began with the Clark Terry Big Band in Harlem, a "bon voyage" celebration for the band which then left for a tour of Europe. Also playing the first week were the Tito Puente Orchestra, Larry Harlow Orchestra, Billy Taylor and Friends and Ray Bryant.

Canned pimiento may be mixed with mashed potatoes. Finely dice the pimiento before adding.

combinations that included choice of Chinese lacquer, gold, orange, blue, chili-pepper red, yellows, and greens.

Quilter's summery fabrics in other rooms included a bright glazed cotton and wild strawberry motif in a breakfast room. It was used in the upholstery covering of a chair and sofa and draped over a round table. An organdy fabric used at the windows was used also for a square throw across the glazed cotton table cover.

RECEPTION PLANNED — The 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Archer of Ashville will be celebrated with an open reception beginning 2:30 p.m. on Sept. 2nd at Hedges Chapel Church basement, Ashville. They are the parents of five sons and one daughter, Ed, Heath, Keith, Tony, Kevin, Rodney and Lori. The couple was married Aug. 30, 1948 in Hallsville with the Rev. Lewis Matthew officiating.

LADIES LUNCH

Chef's Salad, Crusty Rolls, Melon Cup & Orange Cookies.

ORANGE COOKIES

Good flavor and not too sweet.
1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Grated rind from 1 medium orange, about 1 tablespoon ½ cup butter
one-third cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons orange juice
¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts
On wax paper sift together the flour and salt; stir in orange rind. In a medium mixing bowl cream butter and sugar; beat in egg well. Add half the flour mixture, mixing well. Add the orange juice and the remaining flour mixture and walnuts; mix well. Drop by level tablespoons, a few inches apart, onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. TED LEWIS
115 Central Park West
New York, N.Y.

Dear Friends,

Ted Lewis, my beloved husband and your son of Circleville, died two years ago, on August 25, 1971. Since that time I have received thousands of cards, letters and phone calls from his many admirers.

Again, I take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you for your kindnesses!

Mr. Lewis, in all his years as a showman, never forgot Circleville. Many times during his shows, when asked about his birthplace, he answered, "Circleville, Ohio, the capital of the world."

Sincerely Yours,
Mrs. Ted (Adah) Lewis

Dam Work Ban Lifted; New Hearing Slated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge's ruling Friday that the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers could resume construction on two dam projects may mean 200 employees in Warren and Clermont counties can go back to work.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin ruled that the Engineers can resume work on dams along Caesar's Creek and the East Fork of the Little Miami River.

Rubin's decision lifted a temporary restraining order which held up work on the project since July 24. But Rubin issued an injunction which prohibits the engineers from cutting additional trees or committing acts harmful to the environment until a hearing can be held.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown requested the original restraining order at the urging of several environmental groups.

Brown contended that construction should cease until it could be determined whether the environmental cost outweighed the benefits of the dams.

Rubin said he would allow construction to proceed because he feels that environmental damage incidents to the contracts already occurred and that no further significant environmental damage appears likely.

U.S. District Court Judge Timothy Hogan issued the original restraining order. Hogan later disqualified himself because he owns land in Clermont County which might be affected by the east fork project.

The hearing is not expected to be held for weeks. The court could still order both projects abandoned.

Auto Dealer Gives Help Free Holiday

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Auto dealer John Koons of Falls Church, Va., says he's going to close down and take a Labor Day Weekend holiday in Florida with all his employees.

Koons has reserved rooms at an oceanside hotel here as part of the three-day, all-expense paid trip for his workers and their families—about 350 persons.

Koons said Thursday he has also chartered two DC10s to fly his party down and will give each person money for meals and sightseeing.

He financed a similar trip to Fort Lauderdale last year and another to San Juan, Puerto Rico, in 1971.

As part of a weekend of fun, his guests will be treated to a dinner party aboard the "Paddle Wheel Queen."

Koons, who says he heads one of the largest Ford dealerships in the United States, estimates his bill will be about $85,000.

"Nothing is more important than having happy people working with you," said Koons.

GOP Wants Saxbe To Run

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— State Republican Chairman Kent B. McGough said Thursday he was asked by the State, Central and Executive Committee to use the influence of his office to convince U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe to seek reelection.

McGough said a party poll taken the first week in August showed that Saxbe could win re-election. Asked if the poll also showed that he was the strongest candidate against Gov. John J. Gilligan in 1974, McGough replied: "I can't answer that question."

Saxbe said he would not run against former Gov. James A. Rhodes in any primary battle. Rhodes is already an unannounced gubernatorial candidate for a third term.

McGough said the party's recruiting committee, which also met during the day, talked with 33 possible candidates for state office. He described 19 of them as "serious" hopefuls for one or another spot on the ticket.

Six of those appearing, he said, wanted to run for governor.

Although he did not list them, they were reportedly Rhodes, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-21 Cincinnati; House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg and U.S. Rep. William J. Keating, R-Cincinnati.

McGough said the poll made by Market Opinion Research Inc. of Detroit showed the Ohio Republican ticket would not suffer from the Watergate scandal.

"The poll shows a significant number of Ohioans did not attach Watergate to the Republican party in Ohio," he added.

McGough said 33 applicants for state ticket positions were divided basically into three groups—nine persons really not interested, five or six showing doubtful interest and 19 serious for a spot on the state ticket.

Cards Shove Reds Lower, 5-4

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose was hot under the collar, Diego Segui was worried about a heart attack and Sparky Anderson is looking for relief. It all added up to a hot August night in Cincinnati.

The St. Louis Cardinals, trying to recover from a slump which has endangered their lead in the National League East, rode Jose Cruz' second straight game-winning home run to push the Cincinnati Reds into deeper despair with a 5-4 victory Friday night.

It was the sixth loss in seven games for the Reds, who dropped four games behind pace-setting Los Angeles in the National League West.

"If you can't win this game...I just don't know," muttered Rose, the Reds' league-leading hitter, who had four hits. He was referring to two Cincinnati homers and a Cardinal error which allowed the Reds to score two runs on a freak strikeout play.

But the loss wasn't what raised Rose's dander.

Orioles Stomp Kansas City, 6-0

By KEN RAPPOPORT
 Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles are flying rings around the rest of the American League East and haven't come down to earth yet.

"Now, we need another one," said an unquenchable Earl Weaver after his soaring Birds beat the Kansas City Royals 6-0 Friday night for their 11th straight victory.

The longest winning streak in major league baseball this season has given the Orioles a pretty high perch in their division race.

Involved in a tight, four-team fight as recently as August 14, the Orioles hold a 4-game lead over the Boston Red Sox, 4½ over the Detroit Tigers and have virtually knocked the New York Yankees out of contention—sending the skidding Bombers 7 games to the rear.

It isn't enough for Baltimore's pessimistic manager, however.

"We're not home safe yet," said

Americans Beat Russian Cagers In 75-67 Tilt

MOSCOW (AP) — The world won't question it again in a hurry. The United States reigns as king of world amateur basketball.

A great young American team, averaging 19 years of age, beat the Soviet Union 75-67 in the final Friday night to win the basketball gold medal at the end of the seventh World University Games.

It was sweet revenge for America's upset defeat by the Russians in the final of the Munich Olympics last year.

The Russians planned a spectacular closing ceremony Saturday to mark the end of these games in which 4,500 student athletes from more than 70 countries have competed.

Thanks to the basketball boys and a strong performance by the swimming team, the Americans could go to the ceremony with a measure of pride.

The Russians ended up with a staggering total of 68 gold medals, 36 silver and 31 bronze.

The Americans, who failed to pick up a single gold in track and field until they won the two men's relays, managed to put together a final total of 19 gold, 15 silver and 19 bronze for second place in the standings.

All but three of the American gold medals were won by the swimmers.

The happiest man on the U.S. basketball team was Tommy Burleson, the 7-foot-3 inch center from North Carolina State—the only man here from the American team which bowed to the Russians at Munich.

By contrast six of the Russian Olympic winners were playing in Moscow. The Russians' success in world sport is based largely on university students, and this came near to being their national squad.

K Of C Slow Pitch Tournament Starts

In the first night of action in the annual Knights of Columbus Slow Pitch Softball tournament, Circleville Independents defeated Westinghouse, 20-4. Terry Anderson went three for four for the winners with a homerun, a triple and a single.

Shawnee Trophies bombed Circleville Merchants No. 2 in a five inning ball game. For Shawnee, Dave Hannahs was three for three, H. Stevens and Johnson were three for four and Ray Jordan chipped in with two for four including a home run. For the losers Hill and Thomas were two for two.

American Legion defeated Morgan's Sporting Goods 6-3. McGowan paced the hitting for the Legion, going three for three. For the losers' Chuck Pritchard had three hits in three trips to the plate.

Lucy's Beauty Salon edged Central Ohio Welding B team in an exciting 15-14 ball game. R. Hinton went four for four and Engie blasted a home run for the winners. For the Welders, L.

Harris hit three times in four trips to the plate and Gillman slammed a homer.

Action started this morning at 8:30 and continues until 10 tonight. Sunday's play starts at 10 a.m. with the championship game scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Sara Flo Victorious At Scioto Downs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Sara Flo won the $7,000 featured ninth race free for all pace at Scioto Downs Friday night trotting the mile in 2:03 3-5 to win by 1¼ lengths.

The winner paid $3.60, $3.20 and $2.40. Wye Tag placed for $9.40 and $2.80. King Storm showed for $2.

In the nightly double, the 1-4 combination of Royal Rock Hall and I'm Naughty paid $67.40.

In the 10th race quinella, the 1-2 combination paid $48.90.

A crowd of 6,092 wagered $342,503.

The first pitch by St. Louis' Alan Foster blazed behind Rose's head and the Cincinnati outfielder sent some scorching words toward the mound.

"The last three times he's pitched against us, he's thrown at me," charged Rose. "That's the closest I've ever come to getting my head knocked off. I'm not going to stand for any pitcher knocking my head off."

Rose responded with a home run to tie the game at 1-1.

Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst

disagreed that Foster threw at Rose. "You don't throw at Rose. That just wakes him up."

Cruz' 10th homer and 12th game-winning hit of the season came after reliever Diego Segui survived a 10th-inning scare. The Reds loaded the bases with none out, before Segui struck out the next two batters and got Darrell Chaney to fly out.

"I almost had a heart attack," said Segui.

Catcher Ted Simmons drove in three of the Cards runs with a single in the first inning and a two-run homer in the fifth.

But it was his throwing error after Andy Kosco struck out on an outside pitch that allowed Cincinnati to make it 4-3 with two gift runs. The pitch got past Simmons, but bounced off the backstop into his mitt. He then threw to first only to have the ball strike Kosco and roll into the outfield.

Cruz, a .235 hitter, ended the deadlock with a two-out homer in the next inning.

The loss was the Reds' fourth straight.

"Panicking won't do any good," said Manager Sparky Anderson. "We've just got to play better. It's very discouraging, but there's a long way to go yet," he said.

Segui, 6-4, was the winner and Clay Carroll, in losing his second straight outing, dropped to 5-8.

The Cards send Rick Wise, 13-8, against Don Gullett, 14-8, Saturday night.

Wilmington Coach A Name-Dropper

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Like most small college coaches caught in the ever-competitive recruiting war, Bill Ramseyer goes with his strongest suit.

He's a name dropper.

He battles the big name schools by dropping big time names. Like Paul Brown. The Cincinnati Bengals. And Mike Reid.

"Having the Cincinnati Bengals train here is a tremendous selling point," said the 36-year-old Wilmington College football coach.

"We exploit it any way we can. It has been a heckuva factor in our recruiting," said Ramseyer, who directed the Quaker school of 900 enrollment to its second winning season since 1955. It was his first year.

Ramseyer, despite the handicap of having no scholarships to offer prospective players, plans to build a football power at the tiny college which suffered through losing streaks of 21 and 16 games in the 1960s.

"Our exposure through the Bengals has greatly helped our program. But it's still a 12-month job. We open practice Sept. 1 and I'm still calling prospects. At big schools you can relax once you've got your top prospects signed to letters of intent in the spring. Smaller schools can't count on a player until he shows up," said the Bluffton, Ohio native.

A large silver ring dons his finger. The former assistant at the University of Missouri was head scout and assistant coach for four years under Dan Devine, now head coach of the Green Bay Packers, and Al Onofrio. "That's for winning the Big Eight in 1969," said Ramseyer of the ring.

"Dan Devine taught me a great deal more than just Xs and Os," said Ramseyer, who has a 535-page football manual on the national market. It's entitled "Flip That Coin—We're Ready."

"It's a day-to-day, year-to-year journal for establishing a football program. It took me five years to compile it. Now I'm in the process of doing a book on scouting," he said.

Dennis Taylor Winner Of Trapshoot Crown

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — There was a great similarity to the two young men who shot off for the Grand American Handicap championship Friday at the 74th annual Grand American Trapshooting tournament.

For their day's shooting, only one target separated them. But, it made Dennis Taylor, 23, of Muscoda, Wisc., the Grand champion and Kim Altvater, 22, Haven, Kan., the runnerup.

Ramseyer says Wilmington College has other selling points too, besides being the summer home of the Bengals.

"We're the only college in the world with this modern weight training facility, since the Bengals donated their $23,000 Nautilus equipment to the school this week. We have all 10 pieces for complete muscle conditioning.

Taiwan Team Favored In Baseball

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Tainan City took the field today seeking a third consecutive Little League world championship for the Asian island of Taiwan.

Except for players and coaches representing the Cactus League of Tucson, Ariz., everyone said Taiwan was a shoo-in to win. And the volunteers who run the Little League program through the United States are upset about it.

"I thought last year's team (from Taipei, Taiwan) was perfect," said a middle-aged district administrator from the Midwest. "This year's team is much better. It's not fair for our boys to compete with them. They don't have a chance."

The Nationalist Chinese boys advanced to today's finals on a pair of no-hitters in which only one opposition batter reached base. Tucson moved into the championship on a pair of one-hitters.

In Friday's consolation games, Whalley, B.C., captured fifth place with a 2-0 victory over Monterrey, Mexico, while Bitburg AFB, Germany gained seventh with a 3-2 decision over Colonie, N.Y. Taiwan teams won 'he series in 1969, 1971 and 1972. Japanese teams took the title in 1967 and 1969, while the lone American winner in recent years, 1970, was Wayne, N.J.

Bob Howell Named Assistant Coach

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Bob Howell, former Ohio University basketball star, has been named assistant basketball coach at Morris Harvey College.

Morris Harvey Coach Rich Meckfessel Friday said Howell, who graduated from Ohio University last year, would replace Carl Bradford, who resigned to take a post in private business.

Thomas, Curtis To Clash Tonight In RFK Stadium

WASHINGTON (AP) — Duane Thomas and Mike Curtis are silent types.

However, when the Washington Redskins and the Baltimore Colts clash in RFK Stadium tonight, both will be heard.

Thomas, running back for the Redskins, and Curtis, middle linebacker for the Colts, don't talk to many people, especially to newsmen.

If both are doing their jobs, they'll be meeting often on the field and the collisions should cause echoes off the stadium walls.

The Redskin-Colt clash is one of five exhibition games on tap tonight. The Atlanta Falcons meet the Cleveland Browns at Knoxville, Tenn., the New England Patriots visit the New Orleans Saints, the Philadelphia Eagles go against the Chargers in San Diego and the St. Louis Cardinals host the New York Jets.

This afternoon the Oakland Raiders entertain the Minnesota Vikings in Berkeley, Calif.

On Sunday afternoon, the Chicago Bears visit the Buffalo Bills, the San Francisco 49ers host the Denver Broncos and the New York Giants entertain the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Green Bay Packers visit the Kansas City Chiefs Sunday night.

Two games were played Friday night. The Miami Dolphins kept their unbeaten record intact with 17-14 win over the Los Angeles Rams and the Cincinnati Bengals downed the Detroit Lions 17-10.

Most of the fans also will be watching the performance of Colts' rookie Bert Jones who led Baltimore to its 32-28 pre-season victory against Detroit last week.

As they did last week, Marty Domres will open at quarterback but Jones, pushing hard for the starting slot, will take over in the second period.

Bill Kilmer, who guided the Redskins to the Super Bowl last season, will open at quarterback for Washington but will be replaced in the second half by Sonny Jurgensen, now nearly rehabilitated from an Achilles tendon tear.

Larry Brown, the NFL's most valuable player, will again sit out the contest in Redskins' coach George Allen's plan to protect the slashing runner from injury until the last two pre-season games.

The Dolphins made it 23 games without a loss as Bob Griese directed them to 17 points in the first half. Mercury Morris ran nine yards for the first touchdown and Marlin Briscoe hauled in a 37-yard pass from Griese for the second one.

John Hencken Breaks Own Swim Mark

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Olympian John Hencken of the Santa Clara Swim Team knew he was heading for a world record Friday in the men's 200 meter breaststroke because of the response from the crowd.

"Yeah, you can tell when the crowd starts cheering you at the 100," said Hencken, who set a world record of 2:20.523 in the event in the National Amateur Athletic Union Long Course Swimming and Diving Championships at Louisville's Plantation Country Club.

"They start yelling every time your head comes up," said the 19-year-old Hencken, who will be a sophomore this fall at Stanford University. "You hear it, then you know."

Hencken's mark broke his own previous standard of 2:21.55 set when he won the event in last year's Olympics in Munich.

Asked how it felt to break his own record, Hencken replied only: "Great."

His world record came a day after his Santa Clara Swim Team was disqualified after winning the men's 400-meter medley relay because of a false start by Hencken.

However, he said that did not occur to him and that he "put it out of my mind. I just forgot about it. I tried to, but it kept popping up, though."

Ford Closes Turbine Plant

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has closed its gas turbine plant in Toledo and deemphasized plans for a new engine, the firm announced Friday.

A spokesman said the plant is closed for "the moment" but did not reveal any plans for future use or sale of the facility.

About 100 workers had been employed at the plant which produced turbines aimed for use in highway truck-tractors, construction equipment, generators and large boats. During its two years of production, the plant turned out 200 engines, of which only 36 were sold, Ford has acknowledged.

The firm had announced last month it would begin development of a new generation of gas turbine to supercede the first model. However, the spokesman said Friday that the new engine would not be ready for production until the late 1970s or early 1980s.

The spokesman said the engine-model on which production was stopped had too many problems which could not be solved. He said troubles developed in the electronic controls and the ceramic regenerators, devices using exhaust gas to heat incoming air to increase the thermal efficiency of the engine.

Wilmington College Receives Donation

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Kresge Foundation donated $50,000 to Wilmington College, according to the school's president, Robert E. Hinshaw.

The gift is contingent upon the college reaching its Centennial II fundraising goal of $2.7 million by Feb. 15, 1974.

Diamond Lil Winner In River Downs Race

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Diamond Lil nosed out Once Irish after the two turned Friday's $2,500 feature race into a two-horse stretch drive at River Downs.

The narrow victory in 1:10 over six furlongs paid $14.20, $4.80 and $4.00. Once Irish returned $3.60 and $3.00. Lady of Night was the show horse at $6.00.

Jockey Guillermo rode three winners and missed a fourth when Once Irish was edged at the wire.

Aspromonte, Perry To Stay With Tribe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Nick Mileti, president of the Cleveland Indians, says Manager Ken Aspromonte's job is safe and the baseball club will not trade pitcher Gaylord Perry.

Mileti made the announcements in response to reporters' questions on WJW-TV's "City Camera Closeup" taped Friday for showing at noon Sunday on Channel 8.

Dottys First Victor In Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Dottys First, with Omar Hiteman at the reins, went wire-towire to win the $2,000 feature invitational trot at Latonia Friday night.

The half-length victory returned $7.20, $3.20 and $2.60. The winner was timed in 2:03 1-5 for the mile.

Tiger Blaze paid $3.60 and $3.20. Water Loo showed at $2.60.

Excellent Scot and Chopper Melody, 2-8, paid $33.20 in the daily double.

PCC Ladies Play Hidden Partners

Play of the day was Hidden Partners for the Pickaway Country Club Ladies Golf outing.

First place winners were Jackie Moore and Ruth Marshall. Second place winners were Mae Huggins and Mary Hartman followed by the third place duo of Phyllis Williams and Betty Danford.

Dodgers Blank Philadelphia

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tommy John's parents must have known something.

After all, they didn't give him a last name.

John has started 53 games the past two seasons and has been around to accept his teammates game-ending handshakes only four times.

No. 4 came Friday night when John pitched a three-hitter and struck out seven in hurling the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Dodgers supported John with an unearned run in the fourth and two more in the sixth on successive triples by Willie Crawford and Von Joshua followed by Bill Russell's sacrifice fly.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 5-4 in 11 innings; New York squeezed by San Francisco 1-0 in 10 innings; San Diego outscored Montreal 5-3; Atlanta overcame Pittsburgh 3-2 and Houston topped Chicago 4-2.

Cardinals 5, Reds 4

Jose Cruz's 11th inning homer snapped a 4-4 tie and provided the Cardinals with a 5-4 victory.

Cruz' 10th homer won the game for Diego Segui, 6-4, who pitched in and out of trouble in the Reds 10th.

Braves 3, Pirates 2

If you add up plusses and minuses, Dusty Baker had two home runs—the one he took away from Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner and the game-winning, two-run blast he picked up for himself in the bottom of the ninth. The second one was decisive, rallying the Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Pirates.

In the fourth inning, Baker stole one from Hebner. "It's the greatest catch I've ever made," said the 24-year-old Baker.

Astros 4, Cubs 2

Jerry Reuss registered his 14th triumph of the season in Houston's 4-2 decision over Chicago and is on his way to a 17-victory season, maybe.

Reuss, who matched his highest victory total for one season, figures he has six or seven starts left.

Doug Rader's two-run single, Bob Gallagher's sacrifice fly and Skip Jutze's RBI single accounted for the Houston runs.

Padres 5, Expos 3

The Padres won't finish anywhere near first place, but they can achieve some consolation from keeping others out of there.

In Memoriam

To Kermit our husband and dad on his birthday August 26.
 You have been gone for two months. It seems like an eternity.
 We miss you and love you more each day.
 Our hearts are broken.
 Yet we know you are at rest.
 We will be together again someday.
 Mary and Lynn

1. Card of Thanks

I want to thank my neighbors, friends and relatives for their phone calls, visits, cards, and prayers after my accident. Special thanks to Deputies Earl and John, and John Bost of the Sheriff's Department and Emmett Chapel for their prayers. God Bless you all.
 Gene Kerns

NEW LISTING

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a good chance to put in effect a modern course of action with an associate by which you are able to expand your ideas and achieve more success. Be sure to compliment any teenagers when it is due. Avoid any arguments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take the time to go out to recreation you like with an associate and come to a better meeting of minds. Although a new situation may seem difficult, time will make it turn out fine. Have patience.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get the cooperation of kin for the changes you want to make at home. Improving your surroundings will add value to your property. Sidestep a social affair tonight that could be troublesome.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Once you have attended services of your choice, take part in an outside activity you enjoy. Later meet with a trusted friend and come to the right solution of an existing problem.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk over monetary matters with kin and make plans to have more abundance in the future. Don't hesitate to discuss a plan that is close to your heart. Think in a happier vein.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have good ideas and the right approach to success and should share some of them with good friends who are not so well endowed. Have fun with friends tonight. Show that you have poise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You know exactly whom to contact now for the information you need so visit this person without delay. Make sure to keep promises made to others. Show that you are a dependable person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Doing favors for a steadfast friend will be to your benefit in the days ahead. Getting into group affairs is wise since you can make excellent new contacts. Show that you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't confide in others about a mundane matter you want to get out of the way, but first confer with a higher-up. Handling a civic affair intelligently is important now. Relax tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Induce a good friend to accompany you to a new site where much needed knowledge can be obtained. Look to one from a distance for the backing you need regarding a personal aim.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Meet with a financial expert and discuss how to handle your obligations better in the future. Help your loved one get support for a worthwhile project. This could lead to something wonderful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Making new arrangements for the future with a loyal associate can bring excellent results. Take care of duties that can't be done during the regular work week. Take health treatments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although it's time for rest and relaxation, you and some associates have a task to perform, but good planning gets it done well. Your hunches are excellent now so be sure to use them.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those youngsters who has much self-esteem and can easily reach the heights in whatever the profession may be. Make sure you provide the right education and extra cultural advantages. Teach the importance of perseverance early in life. The field of government or teaching would be excellent here. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
